

Contribute Six Ways

Convenience is incredibly important when it comes to a checking or savings account, and IABLE is no different. With the ability to contribute six different ways, you have options and flexibility when it comes to your account.

- Ugift: Encourage others to contribute to your account by using Ugift, a free to use service that works by giving you a unique code to share with family and friends. Visit iabile.gov/resources/give-a-gift to learn more.
- Payroll Direct Deposit. If your employer offers this service, you may be eligible to make automatic contributions to an IABLE account.
- Recurring Contributions. Set up automatic contributions to an IABLE account directly from your checking or savings account on a monthly, quarterly or customized basis.
- Electronic transfer. Complete a one-time electronic bank transfer.
- Check. Checks should be made payable to IABLE and mailed to the program.
- 529 Plan Rollover. You may roll over funds from a 529 education savings account, such as College Savings Iowa, into an IABLE account as long as the beneficiary of the 529 plan is the IABLE account owner or a family member. It's important to note the rollover will count towards the $16,000 annual contribution limit.*

For more information on any of these options, contact our saving specialists or utilize the Contributing to Your Account section of the Program Description, starting on page 21.

The Federal Annual Contribution Limit is $16,000. However, IABLE account owners who earn income may contribute additional funds beyond the annual contribution limit.*
