

Review Your Savings Timeline

Saving for short- and long-term goals.

There's a lot to consider when making investment and savings decisions! And your savings goals may have changed since you first opened your account. Periodically, you may want to pause and reflect on your savings timeline, your current savings goals and if your tolerance for risk is the same as when the Account was opened. Visit the What Type of Investor Are You? page for questions to ask yourself and to explore sample saving scenarios.

What Type of Investor Are You?